

RISKTEQ

PUTS YOU IN CONTROL

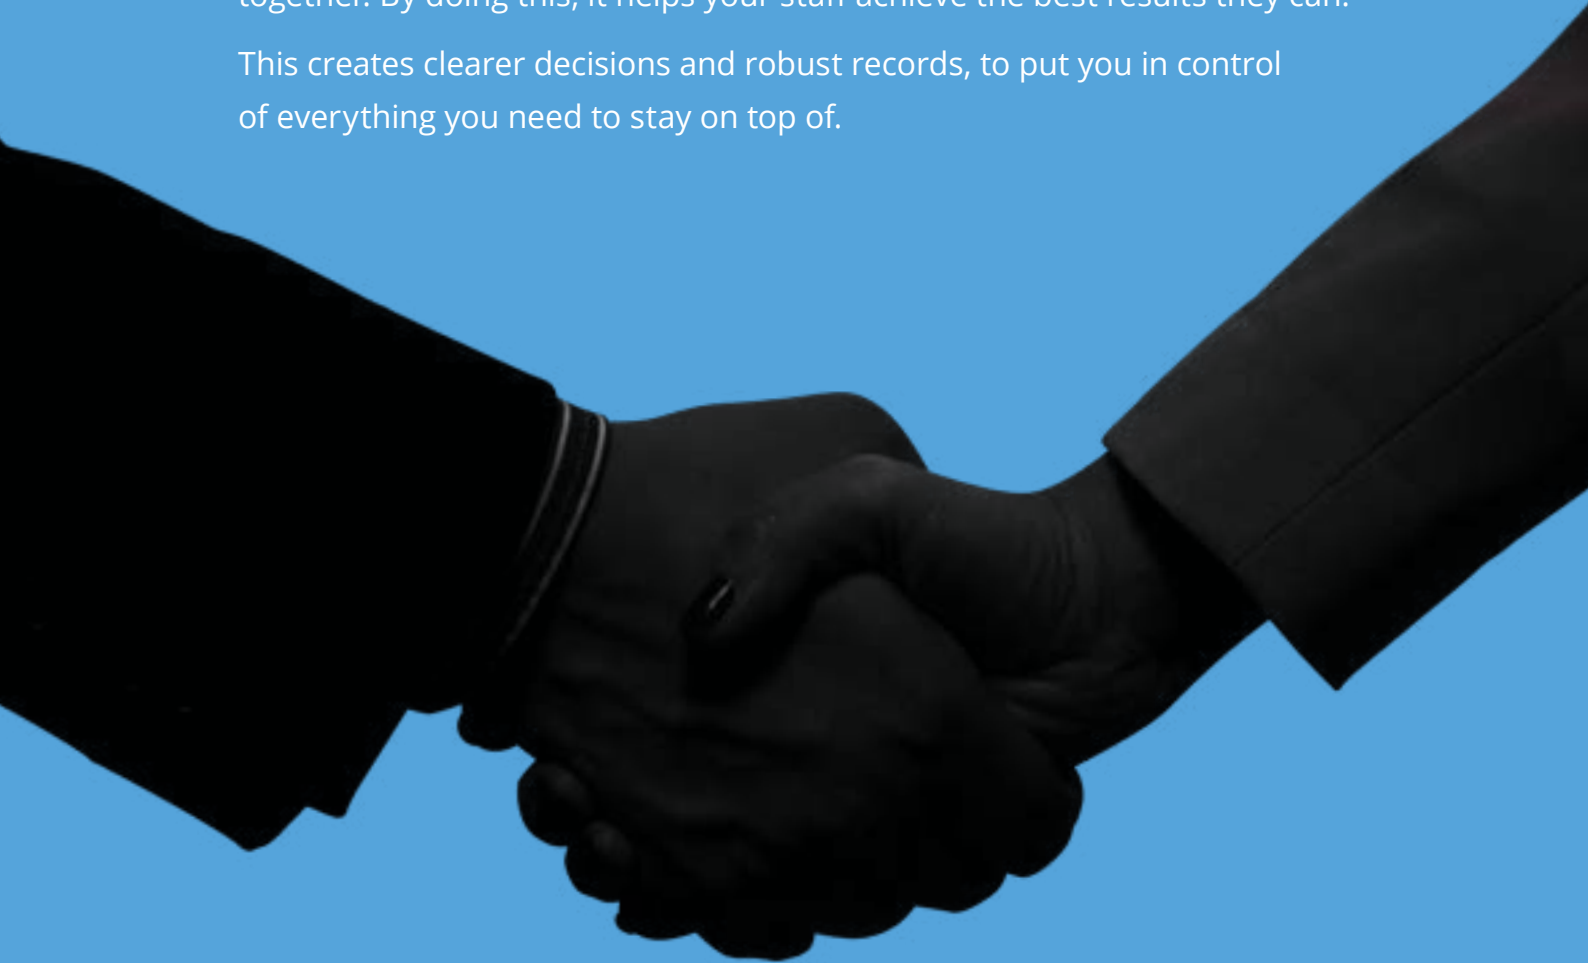

Integrating safety and compliance into your business.

Working in health, safety, environment and quality is always full of challenges and opportunities, but when it's combined with your business plan in a way that supports your goals, it's amazing what you can achieve.

Riskteq doesn't require a big shake-up of your business. It's tailored to fit into your systems, processes and strategies to make them work seamlessly together. By doing this, it helps your staff achieve the best results they can.

This creates clearer decisions and robust records, to put you in control of everything you need to stay on top of.

Be in control of your safety, risk and compliance, in a way that supports your business plan.

Riskteq creates a consistent, organisation-wide approach to managing risk, compliance and safety.

It does this by developing workflow systems that improve communication and control, all tailored to the way your business works.

Incidents and hazards are recorded as they occur in the field, through any mobile device, and automatically referred to the relevant person or persons.

Doing this generates real-time data reporting, which means your decision-making is better informed. This allows you to embed the development and management of continuous improvements into your organisation.

Riskteq also manages accreditation of all staff, including any contractors you hire. And it helps you to manage and action feedback in real time from customers, staff and community members, as well as letting you streamline your plans for activities.

One of the things that sets Riskteq apart is how easily it integrates compliance with your existing systems, including business planning.

This integration allows your risk planning to guide your business objectives management, always working together.

As are your business policies, which enables clear and consistent decision-making. Riskteq also automatically generates evidence for audit obligations, saving you time and resources when audits happen.

And Riskteq can deploy on premises or as a cloud solution delivered as a service— whichever suits the way you work best. Either way, it's proven, mature and easy to use.

By putting your risk and safety policies at the heart of your compliance management, Riskteq allows compliance and business planning to work together for a common goal.

It gives you peace of mind knowing you're meeting all your compliance obligations, while having oversight of how your business is reaching those goals.

Riskteq puts you in control.
